ELEVEN RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS

Entertainment in Xavier Hall on Occasion of Annual Graduation Exercises. Pretty Features. Cantata and Other Numbers.

The annual commencement exercises of St. Francis Xavier's School were held Monday evening in Xavier Hall in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the graduates and the many others who took part in the entertainment. As in all the other public affairs given by the pupils of the parochial schools the careful training and instruction received at the hands of the Sisters was well demonstrated. The Citizens' Band played a number of times during the evening.

The hall was very prettily decorated with the school colors, yellow and white, and the stage was banked with potted plants.

The program opened with a greeting by the eleven graduates, Martin B. Breighner, Joseph E. Codori, Marguerite E. Frommeyer, Joseph A. Maguire, Grace E. Ramer, Ruth B. Strausbaugh, Rose M. Thomas, Alvan P. McSherry, Lucy A. Redding, Simon S. Stock, Margaret A. Twomey, Miss Grace Ramer delivered the salutatory.

One of the best numbers of the evening was "The Meeting of the Nations" in which a large number participated. Two girls represented each of the following nations, England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Switzerland, Norway and Russia, wearing the garb of those countries and each carrying the country's flag. China and Japan were also represented, the former by a boy and the latter by a girl, the whole presenting a very pretty stage picture after all the pairs had been presented and each had rendered their appropriate song.

Three songs by students at the parochial schools contributed to the excellence of the program, "The Flag of the Free," "Who Loved Mother Best" and "The Bugle Horn."

A cantata portraying the parable of "The Foolish Virgins" was exceptionally well given. Five girls represented the wise and five the foolish virgins, the one party lighting their lamps as the coming of the bridegroom was announced, the others trying in vain to borrow oil and returning with what they purchased too late to gain entrance.

Simon S. Stock gave the valedictory and the diplomas was presented to the graduates by Rev. Fr. Connahan, the members of the class being presented to him by Harry F. Breighner.

Certificates for excellence in business writing were presented to Martin B. Breighner and Lucy A. Redding. Certificates for excellence in penmanship were given to Simon S. Stock, Margaret A. Twomey, Ruth B. Strausbaugh and Rose M. Thomas.

Rev. Fr. Connahan made a very earnest and forceful address to the graduates, the program being concluded with the final selection by the band.

THREE FAMOUS STORIES FREE

Just the thing for summer reading! With next Sunday's New York World there will be distributed free a separate pocket edition supplement containing three most interesting stories: "The Adventure of the Missing Three Quarter," a Sherlock Holmes detective narrative by Sir A. Conan Doyle; "The Steady," a love story by Harvey J. Higgins, and "Miss Phoebe," a fascinating romance by Katharine Tynan. Each one of these stories is worth the price of the New York Sunday World alone. Order your copy in advance.

NEWS TO CANDIDATES

By the recent legislature a bill was passed providing that prothonotaries in counties of from 25,000 to 1,000,000 shall be men learned in the law. The bill has been signed by Governor Tener. This makes ineligible all those who had announced themselves as candidates for the September primaries and a new set of aspirants will have to be brought forward.

TO CONGRESS AND BASE BALL GAME

Gettysburg Boy Scouts Visit Smithsonian Institute, Monument, Congress and Many Other Places of Interest.

(Special to The Times)

Washington, D. C., June 13—Monday was a day of sight seeing and pleasure for the Gettysburg Boy Scouts who put through twelve long and active hours visiting various places of interest and witnessing a game of base ball between the Washington and Chicago American League teams.

In the morning the National Museum, the Smithsonian Institute and the Washington Monument were all taken in together with enough sodas to prevent prostration. (One of the Scouts was responsible for that last remark.)

Just before noon the Scouts marched to Congress where they saw Champ Clark, Joe Cannon and numerous other big men. The session was exceptionally interesting during the time the Scouts were there. A first class scrap was on about an appropriation of $5000 for investigating the government affairs of the District of Columbia and Champ Clark had a noisier bunch on hand than Rev. Mr. Baker ever had with the Scouts. The boys enjoyed it thoroughly.

After dinner they marched to the station and met Mrs. Baker, Miss Grace Sachs and Miss Nellie Blocher who are visiting here for a few days. After they had arrived and been properly welcomed the boys went up to the Y. M. C. A. to see whether the swimming pool was still there. The base ball game as next on the program and, from the earnestness with which the boys watched it the natives of Gettysburg may expect a detailed account upon their return which will be made Thursday or Friday of this week by private car.

Today the trip to Mount Vernon was on the schedule. All are looking forward with great eagerness to meeting President Taft Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Carol McDonnell drew the lot to present the Gettysburg case to the Chief Executive.

McKNIGHTSTOWN 2 ARENDTSTOWN 0

The Arendtsville base ball team journeyed to McKnightstown on Saturday last and there met defeat by the score of 2 to 0.

The game was characterized by good, clean base ball. In the third inning J. Bream drove out a home run to deep center and in the eighth inning R. Bream made a beautiful running catch, also getting the ball back to first in time to catch a runner off of his base, making what seemed an impossible double play. For Arendtsville W. Raffensperger at short stop and Wierman at first base pulled down quite a few difficult flies. J. Bream proved to be quite a slab artist for the local boys, striking out nine men and allowing only two hits, one of which was a scratch. Font also pitched a very creditable game for the visitors.

It has been a long time since the people of McKnightstown have been able to witness a game so cleanly played and it is upon this that the team as well as the people wish to congratulate the Arendtsville boys heartily.

The festival which was held by the home team immediately following the game was greatly spoiled by rain in the early part of the evening. On this account the boys were hindered from making the required amount for the new uniforms which they are about to purchase, but it is their intention to hold another one in the near future to make up the shortage.

THE CHAUTAUQUA CANVASS STARTS

Representatives Placed in Many Parts of Adams County to have Charge of Sale of Tickets for Big Mid-Summer Event.

The active canvass for the sale of course tickets to the Gettysburg Chautauqua, August 18 to 27, starts this week when every part of the county will be covered by representatives of the Gettysburg Lyceum Bureau. All the canvassers have been appointed with the exception of the one for York Springs. The others who will have charge of the work are:

Littlestown, Prof. L. Dale Cronkleton.

Arendtsville and Bendersville, Mervin E. Smith.

Fairfield and New Oxford, Prof. J. Louis Sowers.

Biglerville, David A. Lawver.

Gettysburg rural routes, John Sachs and Edgar Miller.

Gettysburg, Mrs. S. M. Stewart.

The towns specified are simply the central working points for the canvassers as they will take in all the country surrounding. The towns in the county not mentioned will be visited by canvassers located at other towns.

A large amount of matter advertising the chautauqua has been distributed in all parts of Adams County and big posters announcing the date of the event have been placed at conspicuous points. This work was done last week in an automobile trip which covered practically every part of Adams County and nearby points in Maryland.

From every section comes news of hearty support. Teachers and granges are showing special interest while many others have expressed a desire to attend.

With every ticket sold is given a book of fifteen ten cent coupons good for ten per cent on purchases at any local store, so that if all are used during the chautauqua the purchaser has his ticket free.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The convention of the First Adams County Sunday School District which comprises Gettysburg and the townships of Cumberland and Strasburg met in the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, Hunterstown, Monday, H. T. Weaver president of the district, presided.

I. L. Taylor had charge of the music and addresses were made by the following, Rev. Henry Anstadt, I. L. Taylor, Mrs. Helen Keith, Rev. G. W. Sherrick and Rev. Prof. C. F. Sanders. Officers elected for the ensuing year were, president, H. T. Weaver; vice president, Dr. Louis Parsons; treasurer, I. L. Taylor; secretary, Miss Ruth Clutz; deputy superintendent, Mrs. Helen Keith; primary work, Mrs. G. W. Sherrick; teachers' training, Mrs. W. I. Burgoon; home department, Miss Annie Danner.

A picnic in the grove was very much enjoyed by the visiting delegates between adjournment of the afternoon session and the evening exercises.

Eight out of the twenty one schools registered in the district were represented.

There were present about thirty five people from Gettysburg.

BOARD REORGANIZED

The Hamilton township school board met at Fairfield in the High School building on Saturday and organized as follows: president, William Donaldson; secretary, John Barton; treasurer, William Watson. The tax was laid at 6 mills.

The names of the directors are Messrs. Harry Slonaker, Oliver Lightner, Joseph Musselman, William Donaldson, William Watson, and John Barton. Over $500 of the debt has been paid showing skilled management of the directors in office.

HELD PUBLIC MEETING

A number of the citizens of New Oxford held a meeting Monday evening to discuss the advisability of accepting the proposition of William D. Himes and Robert E. Manley to furnish the town electric lights at a bid of $600 a year instead of $300 now expended for coal oil lights. A demonstration of the tungsten lights will be made and action for or against the proposition will likely be taken by council soon afterward.

MERCHANTS WILL BANQUET

The Retail Merchants' Association will hold a banquet on Friday evening, June 23, and will have as the guest of honor Congressman Lafean. Mr. Lafean has been specially active in complying with the requests of the organization and, in fact, has secured everything which the association has asked of him. There will be several speakers at the banquet which promises to be an event of exceptional interest.

CLAY HELD FOR AUGUST COURT

Bail Placed at Two Thousand Dollars in Case against Archie Clay Charged with Taking Twenty Dollars from Hotel Gettysburg.

At a hearing before Squire Harnish Monday afternoon Archie Clay was committed to jail to await August Court in default of $2000 bail. The case was the theft of $20.00 from the Hotel Gettysburg early Saturday morning.

In the testimony of Detective Wilson it was brought out that he saw Clay on the excursion train remove money from under his clothes and put it in his right hand pocket.

Mr. Ring testified as to the amount of money he placed in the safe Friday evening.

John Weist stated that no person could have gone to the safe from the time Clay left the hotel until the clerk came down.

Clay remarked to several persons that he wanted to go to Baltimore and had but a dollar and fifteen cents. Clay in defence claimed that he got surplus money from tips in the dining room and shining shoes on big days and put it away at home for safe keeping.

Clay when arrested had upon his person two pocket books containing fifty five cents and ten dollars loose in his pocket, also a pair of new gloves.

DANIEL W. RUDY

Daniel W. Rudy, a veteran of the Civil War, died at the home of C. H. Markley, at Cly, York County, June 9th, where he has made his home the past several years. He was aged eighty years, five months and eight days.

He went through some of the hardest battles of the rebellion and endured many hardships. He enlisted at Gettysburg on October 16, 1862, in Co. B, 165th regiment, under Capt. A. Rupp. He was discharged on July 28, 1863, having served nine months and re-enlisted on Aug. 16, 1864, at Harrisburg, in Co. D, 201st regiment, under Captain Watson O. Smith, and was discharged on June 21, 1865.

He was a member of the United Brethren church, being a trustee, class leader and Sunday school superintendent for a number of years.

CURB MARKET

At this morning's curb market there were sixty three bushels of strawberries and forty one bushels of cherries. All sold rapidly and the market men disposed of the fruit with ease. Harry Deardorff sold six bushels of strawberries in less than a half hour. Other market men sold with equal speed. Country peas were at a premium and those buying at market had to work for what they got in this line. The supply was far less than the demand. The rapid selling of the fruits and vegetables at market makes it possible for many of the stall holders to leave early and at seven o'clock many of the wagons at market for the opening have started on their way home.

MRS. MARY M. STONESIFER

Mrs. Mary M. Stonesifer, wife of Charles Stonesifer, died at her home in Brunsdown, at 9.05 a. m. Sunday, from a complication of diseases, aged 34 years, 3 months and 11 days.

She is survived by her husband and seven children the eldest about fifteen years. She is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hocken-smith, of Brunsdown, and several brothers and sisters.

Funeral Wednesday at 9 a. m. Mass of requiem in St. Mary's Catholic Church, McSherrystown, and interment in St. Mary's cemetery, Rev. L. Aug. Reudter, officiating.

TO SELECT SITE

A conference of the Southern Pennsylvania district of the Church of the Brethren will be held in Codorus church, below Hanover, during the next few weeks at which towns may have present representatives to place before the conference their claims to the national convention in 1912. York, Chambersburg, Gettysburg and Carlisle are the only towns to which the convention can go according to a statement made by one concerned in placing next year's convention.

Genuine Eczema Cure

New Remedy That Cures Eczema Quickly

L. M. Buehler has sold hundreds of jars of Eczema in the last few weeks, and although he offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser, not one jar has been returned.

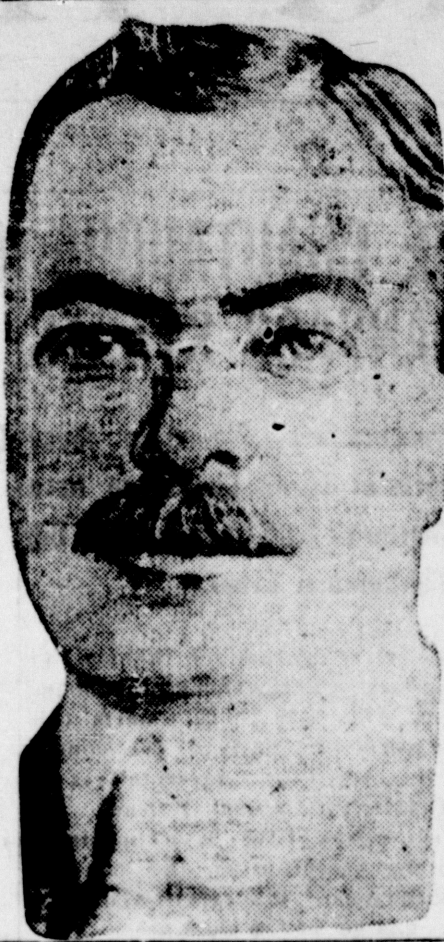

While this is surprising in itself, yet the most marvelous thing to him is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scales, scabs, and even bleeding itching have found relief and cure in Eczema.

No matter where the eczema, pimples, or other breaking out occurs, whether on the face, hands, legs or body, the application of Eczema will give quick relief, and even the worst or most chronic cases will be cured in a short time.

You can buy a liberal sized jar for 25c and with every package goes L. M. Buehler's guarantee to refund the money if it is not satisfactory. Larger size, 50c.

EDWARD HINES.

Chicago Lumberman Named in Connection With Lorimer Case.

SUBPENAS OUT IN LORIMER CASE

Officer of Senate Goes to Chicago to Serve Them.

Washington, June 13.—Subpoenas for some prominent men to testify here in the new Lorimer investigation have been issued and a special officer is now on his way to Chicago to serve them.

It is understood that among the men to be called are Lee O'Neil, Brown, Democratic leader in the Illinois house; Edward Hines, president of the Edward Hines Lumber company, of Chicago, and Edward Tilden, whose name was connected with an alleged $100,000 Lorimer fund.

Also Clarence S. Funk, an officer of the International Harvester company, whose disclosure of an attempt to get his corporation to subscribe to the alleged fund was a feature of the investigation by the Illinois senate.

The Lorimer committee has not yet fixed a day for the hearings to begin. Senator Lorimer, for the first time in some weeks, was in his place in the senate.

TAFT PARDONS MURDERER

Saves Man Who Prevented Wholesale Escape of Convicts.

Washington, June 13.—President Taft granted an unconditional pardon to Lorenzo D. Barnes, an inmate of the government hospital for the insane here, who recently prevented a wholesale delivery of insane convicts.

Barnes was convicted of killing a man who had defamed his wife. While serving a life sentence he became insane, but has since regained his reason.

Attorney General Wickersham recommended his pardon, saying he had "taken the life of one scoundrel, but saved the lives of several government officers."

GIRLS HELD IN $25,000 BAIL

Wounded Hotel Man Unable to Appear, So Hearing Goes Over.

New York, June 13.—Lillian Graham, a chorus girl, and Ethel Conrad, an illustrator, charged with shooting W. E. D. Stokes in their apartments, were arraigned in court, but because of the inability of Stokes to leave the hospital their preliminary hearing was postponed until Wednesday.

On the plea of their counsel Magistrate Freschi consented to the release of the girls on $25,000 bail each. Although confident of raising the required bail, no bondsman was present and they were remanded.

Pursue Fiend in Storm.

Elizabethtown, N. J., June 13.—All night through the pouring rains mob of infuriated, determined men, armed with revolvers, shotguns and rifles beat about the woods and scoured the fields in this vicinity in the hope of getting some trace of the fiend who attacked and attempted to assault pretty Elsie Dengler, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Dengler, while she was on her way home from church and within a few hundred yards of her own home.

Must Not Fly Over London.

London, June 13.—The home office issued a notice warning aircraft not to attempt to make spectacular flights over the city during the coronation. The notice warns aviators that the penalty for such flights if tried shall be a fine of $1000 or six months in prison or both if the attempt at flying is made on June 22 to 23.

SUGAR TRUST RUN ON SECRET PLAN

Havemeyer Kept Operations From Stockholders.

HE HELD LITTLE STOCK

Owned Only 2000 Shares of American Refining Company, With Value of $200,000, Out of Total Capital of $5,000,000.

Washington, June 13.—So carefully guarded were the operations of the American Sugar Refining company the so-called "sugar trust," up to less than two years ago, that stockholders were accorded no information as to how the company was being conducted.

This was set forth by E. T. Atkins, vice president and acting head of the corporation, at the opening hearing of the investigation by the special house committee.

The condition grew so onerous, the witness said, that the New England stockholders combined and obtained control. When they did so in 1910 they discovered to their great astonishment that H. O. Havemeyer, the presiding genius of the organization, had maintained his supremacy with only 2000 shares of stock.

The holdings of Mr. Havemeyer at the time of his death, Mr. Atkins said, were valued at about $200,000, out of a total of $5,000,000 in the American Sugar Refining company.

"That was a surprising discovery," he declared. "It has been generally supposed that Mr. Havemeyer owned the greater part of the stock."

New England Owns 63 Per Cent.

Mr. Atkins said the New England interests obtained control after a committee discovered from an examination of the stock owners of the American Sugar Refining company that 63 per cent were New Englanders.

"We found that there were 18,000 New England owners," said Mr. Atkins, "and 10,000 of these were women. They were helpless so far as representation was concerned, and I was urged to take a place on the board, which I did."

Representative Hardwick, of Georgia, is chairman of the committee, and is expected to take a leading part in the examination of the witnesses.

The committee first has taken up the American Sugar Refining company, the so-called "sugar trust," to determine whether the corporation is operating in violation of the Sherman or interstate commerce laws.

James N. Beck, formerly assistant attorney general, appeared as counsel for the "trust," and Mr. Atkins was the first witness examined.

Mr. Atkins said the purpose of the formation of the American Sugar Refining company in 1887 was to put on their feet a number of sugar refineries that had been operating at a loss. He said the companies had been working without profits for a number of years.

The cost of production of refined sugar had been so great, said Mr. Atkins, that it was believed a union of refineries would result in greatly reducing this expense.

"Did you expect through this means to avoid some of the competition?" asked Mr. Hardwick. "Well, I suppose it had some effect of that kind."

The witness said that seventeen refineries joined in this merger in 1887, which was arranged by H. O. Havemeyer. Almost all of them, he said, had been doing business at an excessive cost and they were scattered throughout New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maine, Pennsylvania, Louisiana and Missouri. He was unable to say what percentage of the refined sugar production they controlled.

High Price For Plant.

Mr. Atkins was asked many questions relative to the organization in 1887 of the Sugar Refineries company, which later became the American Sugar Refining company. He said the organization was to reduce the cost of production and that he received for his concern, the Bay State Refining company, which he valued at $500,000, trust certificates of the securities or holding company of a value of $90,000.

Representative Madison, of Kansas, asked Mr. Atkins whether it were not a fact that previous to 1887 there was free and open competition in the buying of raw and the selling of refined sugar in this country. "Yes," Mr. Atkins said, "there was free competition."

"That competition you found to be numerous, did you not?" "Yes, it was," he replied.

"You wished to avoid that competition," Mr. Madison continued, "and it was for that reason that Mr. Havemeyer got together yourself and about a dozen other sugar manufacturers for the purpose of framing an agreement to eliminate this competition, was it not?" "Well," Mr. Atkins said, "the principal object was to reduce the cost of production."

Bather Is Fined $100 at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, June 13.—George Jackson, twenty-five years old, was fined $100 by Recorder Keffer for disorderly conduct on the beach. Jackson was arrested after a score of young women had complained of his conduct. He spent the night in jail in his bathing suit. Two policemen had to rescue him from a crowd of angry bathers.

8-YEAR-OLD GIRL

CONFESSES ROBBERIES

Says She Ransacked Six Houses.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 13.—Seven silk dresses, a savings bank with a considerable sum of money in it, and two pocketbooks, one containing $3 and the other $1.50; two umbrellas, two white parasols, a red sweater, three pairs of silk stockings, three rings, five stickpins, a gold-handled umbrella and a shirtwaist, the loot of an alleged eight-year-old girl thief, were recovered by Chief of Police Killen, of Luzerne.

The child is Anna Garry, whom Chief Killen arrested and who confessed after an hour of questioning, that she had robbed six houses during the last week and had hidden her plunder under several porches, one at her own home and the others nearby. She had sneaked into the houses when the people were out or were occupied in the front or back.

The child was held while the police made a further examination of her case.

ATLANTIC CITY HAS WILD MAN

Saying Colonel Roosevelt is Hunting Him, He Raves in Cell.

Atlantic City, June 13.—A "wild man" was captured here by McMenamin, a policeman, and three others, on Kentucky avenue and taken to the city jail.

The prisoner, a powerful fellow, apparently is an Indian. He raves of being pursued by Colonel Roosevelt and a band of tilters and insists on imitating a lion. He tore off his clothing when put in a cell. He will be taken to the asylum at Smith's Landing.

Before the policeman reached the scene the "wild man" had caused frightened women to bar doors and windows and children fled at his approach.

THE UNCANNY STRANGER

By SHIELD ESTHER DUNN
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

In the good old colony times when travelers, instead of spinning along smoothly in a parlor car, were bumped over dirt roads in a stagecoach on the post road between New York and Boston, in the state of Connecticut, there stood a tavern. Before it swung a sign on which, under a portrait of King George III, were the words "The Royal Arms." In the room which in those days was called "the bar" sat a number of persons, some drinking from pewter mugs.

"The up coach will be late tonight," said the landlord, going to the door and looking out. "The road is bad enough at any time, but on such a night as this it is well nigh impassable."

As he spoke a gust of wind shook the building, and those in the room fortified themselves with a pull at the mugs before them.

"A bad night to be on the road," said a man in a brown coat and buff breeches.

"And a merry one for ghosts," put in a red headed, bear eyed person whose wig, being awry, gave evidence that he had drunk too much.

Those about him looked at him protestingly and with something of awe. "If there's any of 'em about," spoke up a fresh importation from the Emerald Isle, "you're the first of us that they'll be visitin'."

A creaking and a splashing were heard without, and the coach drew up to the door of the tavern. A man of somber appearance descended from the vehicle and stalked into the bar. His eyes were set deep in his head and surrounded by dark circles, his cheek bones high, complexion a whitish gray.

"Luggage, sir?" said the landlord inquiringly.

"Luggage! I need no baggage. I wish lodgings for the night only, and on the morrow I shall proceed on my journey."

The stranger attracted the attention of every one present.

"There's something queer about him," whispered the man in the brown coat to the Irishman, who was crossing himself with his finger under his coat. The landlord, who was looking over the keys to his rooms with a view to selecting one for the stranger, turned and said:

"No chamber vacant tonight, sir. Sorry."

"I sleep tonight," replied the guest, "in No. 12."

His back was turned to all save the landlord, so that no one could see his face, but they all saw the landlord turn pale and take down the key to No. 12. The stranger took it, put it in his pocket and sitting down at a table, called for a glass of hot punch.

In a corner sat a young man with a hook nose, a little newspaper and a mug of grog before him, who did not seem to share the superstitious dread of the others for the mysterious stranger. Instead of shivering this young man looked at him almost insultingly.

The somber man returned his gaze with his great melancholy eyes, but failed to strike terror into him.

"What d'ye mean," whispered the Irishman, "by angerin' the man? Mebbe he's a ghost."

"Ghost!" replied the other contemptuously. "I'll pull his nose for a shilling. There are no such things as ghosts."

The somber man turned. "You would pull my nose for a shilling?" he cried, his deep set eyes lighting up with a flare. "I'll give you a chance to pull your grandfather's nose for $20."

"My grandfather has been dead these thirty years and is not likely to come back to earth for the purpose of getting his nose pulled."

"For $20, I say, I'll have him here. If I fail, $20 is yours."

"I have but 5s. 6d. Will that serve?" "No. Now cease your talk."

"Come, neighbors," said the man with the hook nose, "can't you help me to show up this pretender?"

The cupidity of those present overbalanced their superstition, and they began to feel in their pockets for coins.

Twenty pounds was made up among them, each man to receive as much in addition at the winning of the bet as he put in, and handed to the man with the hook nose. The stranger produced as much.

"Who shall hold the stakes?" asked the hook nosed man.

"Hold them yourself."

"Will not one of the gentlemen do as well?"

"No; you alone will know which wins."

"All right." And the hook nosed man pocketed the money.

"Now," said the stranger, handing him his key, "go to No. 12 and stay there till the bet is won or lost."

The hook nosed man did as he was bid, and the stranger, sitting down in the corner left vacant, apparently sank into a slumber. Presently a terrible shriek was heard on the floor above. It was repeated again and again. When those in the bar had mastered their terror they rushed upstairs to open the door of No. 12. It was locked and bolted. The shrieks had ceased. Then the landlord brought an ax and battered in the door. The room was empty.

Then a mild suspicion began to take hold of those present that they had been swindled. Running downstairs to the bar, they found that vacant also.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature graying, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorized druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. For Sale by The People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Ectchy Skin Was Cleansed by a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

DISASTER IN STORM'S WAKE

Three Persons Killed in Allentown; Two in Johnstown.

DAMAGE WAS WIDESPREAD

Trees and Fruit Injured by Hail and Buildings Struck by Lightning and Burned.

Philadelphia, June 13.—One of the most severe storms experienced in years passed over this city last evening. Telegraph reports indicate that the storm area extended from Washington to New York.

Locally the storm was characterized by incessant lightning, a high wind and heavy rain.

Two severe thunderstorms, with excessive lightning, passed over Philadelphia, doing great damage to all kinds of property. Telegraph and trolley wires in all parts of the city were blown down, signs and signboards were ripped up and people on the streets found it difficult to keep their footing.

Lightning Fires Residence in Camden. Camden, N. J., June 13.—During the prevalence of a high wind, rain and electric storm the house occupied by M. C. Mahon, 305 Warren avenue, was struck by lightning in the rear part and was set on fire.

Members of Battery B, Field Artillery, who were in the Third Regiment armory, which is immediately in the rear of the house, finding that Mr. and Mrs. Mahon were not at home, sent an alarm of fire and then proceeded to carry every piece of furniture to the houses across the street.

The fire caused about $500 damages to the building, which is owned by Hiram Hallinger. Last week the porches of the row of houses tell into the street.

ALLENTOWN HIT HARD

Three Men Killed and Much Property Damaged.

Allentown, Pa., June 13.—Three men were killed and damage was inflicted amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars in a cloudburst that hit Allentown.

"Chain lightning," that blinded the onlookers, was accompanied by terrifying thunder. A gale that rose to seventy miles an hour blew down trees by the hundreds in every part of the city. The trees tore down electric light and trolley wires.

The rain was like a cataract. Within five minutes streets were gutterful and the water flooded over the sidewalks into cellars. Houses were unroofed in every section of the city.

To add to the damage the storm brought with it hail whose like was never seen here. There were hailstones ranging in size from a hickory nut to a boy's fist. The hail smashed window panes on the exposed side of almost every house in town.

At Tenth and Union streets a lightning blast smashed a tree, which fell on a house in which Mrs. Carrie Allender conducted a boarding house. One side of the house was built of corrugated iron. A high tension wire carrying 12,000 volts fell against the iron side of the house. Two men in the house, Hannibal Dotterer and Irvin Cackebach, were electrocuted and Mrs. Allender shocked into insensibility.

John Wagner, a friend of the men killed, rushed into the house in a heroic effort to rescue them. As he touched Dotterer's body he was shocked unconscious and he died as he was being carried into a house across the street.

Lightning Kills Two at Ball Game. Johnstown, Pa., June 13.—John Hamilton, forty-five years old, and August Launtz, forty years old, were instantly killed by lightning, and John McNulty, aged sixty-five years, was badly shocked while watching a game of baseball here. Hamilton was unmarried, but Launtz leaves a wife and three children.

Hailstones Damage Pine Grove Trees. Pine Grove, Pa., June 13.—The worst hailstorm ever experienced here prevailed last evening. Hailstones as large as shellbarks fell, fruit trees of all kinds and vegetables suffered, and the loss will be heavy. Window panes were broken.

Two Buildings Destroyed. Pottsville, Pa., June 13.—A severe electrical storm visited this section last night and a number of buildings were struck and badly damaged. The reformed church at Orwigsburg was struck and burned. A residence at Llewellyn was also burned as a result of being fired by lightning.

Hail Destroys Vegetation. Baltimore, Md., June 13.—Three terrific storms, following each other in succession, did incalculable damage in the suburbs of Baltimore. The air, which had been heated, suddenly turned cold and a comparatively light rain increased in volume until it fell in torrents. With a surprising suddenness there was another change. The rain turned to hail and stones as big as walnuts came down with terrific force and in quantities. For half an hour these fell within a radius of ten miles, destroying vegetation, ruining orchards and putting out of commission nearly all of the telephone and telegraph wires. The property loss was heavy.

LIGHTNING KILLS TWO

Wilkes-Barre Feels Full Force of Electrical Storm.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 13.—Death and destruction followed in the wake of one of the most severe electrical storms which has visited this valley for years.

A bolt of lightning entered the kitchen of John Glowah's home at Minors Mills and killed Andrew, an eight-year-old son. Two other children, aged three and five years, were terribly burned about the body and their condition is serious.

James Benson, aged eleven years of Plains, was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning while sitting in the dining room. One side of the room was completely torn out. Many buildings were struck and live wires endangered the lives of pedestrians.

DISCARDED DUCHESS TO COME BACK HOME

Former Consuela Vanderbilt to Live in America.

London, June 13.—All smart London has stopped its consideration of the coronation festivities for the moment to talk of the astonishing report that the Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Consuela Vanderbilt, is about to give up her long fight for recognition at court and return to her native land for a long period, if not permanently.

One section of the court circles made up of the radicals who are always in opposition to the American peeresses, greets the report with favor. Another coterie, more liberal in its attitude toward American-born women who have married into the peerage, is expressing its regret that the duchess should acknowledge that she has played a losing game in her efforts to gain recognition of her rank at court.

The reported exclusion of the American duchess from the court can not be based upon a divorce proceeding. The duke and duchess have only separated. There are even other causes than the snub accorded to her by the late king, when she was excluded from a famous dinner to the Knights of the Garter and their wives at Windsor Castle some years ago. Her grace of Marlborough was not asked, although her husband was present.

Of late the duchess has found her London palace, Sutherland house, a social mausoleum. She has many devoted friends, but her influence at court seems to have vanished. Her husband seems to have won in his efforts to have his wife excluded from court. Thus, goaded to desperation, the Duchess of Marlborough has decided to quit London and allow her enemies at court to have their own way.

KILLED AND BURIED WIFE

Shot Her in Head and Dug Grave Where She Fell.

Farmington, Me., June 13.—Marshall Taylor, of Freeman, who was arrested following the discovery of the body of his murdered wife buried in a shallow grave behind the house, confessed that he committed the crime.

Taylor said that he killed his wife on the night of May 12 and buried the body immediately in a trench he dug almost on the spot where she fell. Taylor said that he had frequent quarrels with his wife of late and determined to get rid of her.

On the night in question he induced her to take a walk through the woods behind the house, taking his shotgun along. When she stepped in front of him he fired one shot at her head from very close range, killing her instantly. Then he dug a grave, placed the body in it, and after filling in the earth cut spruce boughs with which he covered the newly turned earth.

American Girl Killed in London. London, June 13.—The little daughter of Marshall Roberts, and grand daughter of the late Marshall O. Roberts, of New York, was killed in an elevator accident at her father's residence in Grosvenor square. The girl's head was jammed between the elevator car and the wall and it was necessary to demolish the wall before the body could be liberated.

$100 Fine For Oleo Shipper. Trenton, N. J., June 13.—Found guilty of illegally transporting oleo margarine from Hoboken, N. J., to New York, Frederick Wilson was fined $100 in the United States district court.

The Weather. Forecast for this section: Showers followed by clearing, today; tomorrow, fair; moderate temperature; light to moderate variable winds, becoming westerly.

Peace Congress at Rome. Boston, June 13.—The date of the international peace congress in Rome has been advanced from Oct. 17 to Sept. 25.

Four Drowned in Lake. Chicago, June 13.—Four men were drowned when the said carrier J. W. Marshall was overturned by wind in Lake Michigan, off Gary, Ind.

The new league as planned at a secret conference recently will be made up of Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Detroit, Cleveland, a club on the north side of Chicago and clubs in three cities yet to be selected.

Its players will, according to the plan, be mainly the extra recruits of the sixteen major teams, who will obtain steady employment, a better chance to show their actual value and an opportunity of quick recall to the fastest company. A schedule of 140

DIRECT VOTE PASSES SENATE

Provides For Election of Senators by the People.

THE VOTE WAS 64 TO 24

If House Concurs in Amendment Resolution Will Go to the States For Ratification.

Washington, June 13.—The senate passed the resolution proposing an amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of senators by direct vote.

The action of the senate marked the successful culmination of an effort that has extended over more than a quarter of a century to bring this question before the state legislatures. The resolution was passed by the senate by a vote of 64 to 24, two-thirds of those present, of 59, being necessary to carry the proposition.

The resolution as adopted, however, carried with it the so-called Bristow amendment, which will necessitate its return to the house of representatives, which had already passed it. If the house acts favorably upon the resolution in its amended form, which seems likely, it will go to the states for ratification as an amendment to the United States constitution.

The Bristow amendment retains to the federal government power over the manner, time and place of holding elections for United States senators. The southerners opposed the amendment on the ground that it would give the federal government power to interfere with the so-called grandfather clauses of the constitution of the southern states. The vote on the Bristow amendment was a tie, 44 to 44, and Vice President Sherman cast the vote which tacked the amendment to the resolution.

Upon the vice president may eventually rest the responsibility for the failure of the resolution, for southern senators declared that it would never be adopted in its present form by the legislatures of southern states.

These are the senators who voted against the resolution on the final passage: Bacon, Bankhead, Brandegee, Burnham, Crane, Dillingham, Fletcher, Foster, Gallinger, Heyburn, Johnston, Lippitt, Lodge, Lorimer, Oliver, Page, Penrose, Percy, Richardson, Root, Smoot, Terrell, Williams and Wetmore.

$150,000 FOR MOODY SCHOOL. Two Gifts Are For Seminary and One For Boys' School.

East Northfield, Mass., June 13.—Three gifts, aggregating between $125,000 and $150,000, were announced by W. R. Moody, head of the East Northfield Seminary for Girls and the Mount Hermon School for Boys. Two of the gifts are for the seminary and one for the boys' school.

Mrs. John S. Kennedy, of New York, has presented the seminary with $50,000 for the erection of an administration building. A gift of $25,000 is the endowment of the seminary is announced from C. M. Bailey, of Winthrop, Maine, an intimate friend of the late Dwight L. Moody, the founder of the schools.

For the Mount Hermon school, Mrs. A. F. Schaffer, of New York, will build a library to cost between $50,000 and $75,000.

KAISER HONORS HILL

Invites Retiring Ambassador to Visit U. S. Fleet With Him.

Berlin, June 13.—As a special mark of distinction, the kaiser, through Dr. Von Bethman-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, has invited Dr. David J. Hill, the retiring American ambassador, to accompany the emperor to Kiel on the occasion of the visit of the American fleet in order to introduce the naval officers of the United States. The vessels will arrive on June 21 and will be received with elaborate ceremonies.

$50,000 Reward For Rebel. Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—Ricardo Flores Magon, alleged head of the So calistic revolution in Lower California, has established headquarters at Venice, a seaside resort near here. According to report, the Madero government of Mexico has offered a reward of $50,000 to anyone who can place Magon within Mexican jurisdiction.

Frightened to Death by Thunder. Binghamton, N. Y., June 13.—Mrs. John Allen, of the town of Maine, was frightened to death during a severe electric storm. Mrs. Allen, who was sixty-three years old, was awakened by terrific claps of thunder and was so overcome by terror that she died before a physician could be got.

Two Die in Chair. Sing Sing, N. Y., June 13.—Thomas Barnes, who murdered John T. Leonard in Brooklyn, and Frederick Gebhardt, who killed Anna Luther at Islip, were put to death in Sing Sing prison.

Sued For Breach of Promise: Suicide. Bethlehem, Pa., June 13.—Sued for breach of promise by a girl of his own age, fifteen-year-old Paul Hagen, of Coopersburg, drowned himself in the Lehigh canal here.

IS COBB WORTH $100,000 YEAR?

Value of Detroit's Wonderful Player Difficult to Estimate.

GAME'S GREATEST ATTRACTION

Nearly Every Day Tigers' Right Fielder Pulls Off Something Sensational. Defeated New York Himself Recently—Fans Go to Game to See Cobb.

Leaving out the thrills and getting down to hard cases—large round cases of a value of one buck each—what is Ty Cobb worth to the Detroit club? Ha, ha! Sure you laugh. That has all been thrashed out before. Sure it has. But still it offers an interesting diversion if you haven't anything to do.

Recently Cobb had a real dry, whipping the New York Americans practically single handed. He scored from first on a single and from second on a passed ball and then capped his base running feats by catching out a two-bagger which sent two runs in.

Ahead of him and scored himself. When Catcher Sweney was disputing the decision on a fly, on the fly, he made a couple of neat catches, one of them doubling the fleet Hamlin.

And now to get down to the real canary side of the picture. Ty draws a salary which seems around the $15,000 mark, and back in the winter time when the baseball scribbles are chasing to the payroll by their eyeballs a discussion was started as to Ty's being worth $100,000 to the Detroit club's owners.

There is a large number of people who dispute the fact that the Georgian is worth $100,000 and earns $10,000 per year. In figuring a man's earning capacity the only safe way to handle the dope is to size up the return due directly to his efforts to his employers.

In Cobb's case this cannot be done with accuracy, but a good line is available. The Tigers have been tearing up the western teams of the league. They walked over New York in the opener, and then the Yanks turned and grabbed two. What was the result? The faint hearted ones promptly pulled the blue stuff and went around sighing "They've blown now. The east will walk through them." But did they? We guess not.

If New York had made it three straight the result would have been noticeable in the falling off of the attendance. But the Tigers pulled it out of the fire, and Cobb was the chief raker.

What was the result? Cobb's feat meant in the neighborhood of an additional $1,000 in the box office the following afternoon over what would have been there if the Tigers had lost the day before.

And Cobb does such tricks many times during the season. When the team goes east thousands will turn out to see Cobb play—not to see the game, but to see Cobb—people who don't know a baseball from a pumpkin. And more dollars will roll into the Detroit club's coffers.

Yes; it would appear that Ty Cobb is worth his $10,000 per year and could not be duplicated for $100,000.

There is a growing conviction, coupled with a justifiable warmth under the collar, on the part of the potato growers of the country that if ever the market was manipulated by the commission men and jobbers it has been since digging time last fall. Naturally it is to the interest of the midwestern farmer to buy at the lowest possible figures at the opening of the season in the fall, and it is plain that prices were battered down to the lowest notch through circulation of the report of a bumper crop of potatoes, a claim that the present situation does not seem to be bearing out. As a rule it is not advisable to hold for higher prices when a remunerative price can be got at digging time, but 20 to 25 cents can hardly be called such a price.

A Great Sacrifice

S. S. W. Hammers, will sacrifice the following new goods, never used.

One $60 new Weaver organ, Walnut $20 spot cash. 50 new fancy chairs, of Mump, Gettysburg, at $1, we will let them go at 50 cents each. 50 new 8 ft. white pine benches, worth $1 each, can go at 50 cents each. 150 bushels granulated corn for small and large chickens, 80 cts. per bushel. 75 bushels good oats at 45 cents per bushel. Pure corn meal chop, no cobs, $1.35 per hundred pounds. Some nice lamps used once, at half price. We must sacrifice these new goods. We have no room for them.

The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table—sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handmade finished throughout. The 2 and 3 burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

RUNK & PECKMAN'S REALTY REPORT

DEAR CUSTOMERS:-

When people list properties with us for sale we feel ourselves personally responsible for the kind of persons we send or take to see those properties and look through homes and other buildings. The owners have confidence in us and naturally expect fair treatment from those we send to them. We must know that they are reliable in every sense of the word before we direct them to any home.

Is it fair for someone to learn the names of the owners of properties which we are advertising at our expense, then go to the owners and try to make them think that they can sell direct and save our commission? We will not direct any irresponsible person to any property we have for sale if we know them to be irresponsible. We will not be responsible for any caller who does not use our name with our authority, who pretends that he wants to buy when he has no notion, simply wants to "nose" around. These kind of men are to be found in every county but we hope that they will be scarce in Adams County. We will act in good faith toward everyone and expect the same in return.

If a man comes to you pretending that he wants to buy, suggests that you could sell direct to him and thus save a small commission promised to us, slum him for if he would do so he would do you and you have no use for such a selfish person. It costs money to find buyers. Anyone can sell if he has a buyer. But to find buyers is a task that few agents can master, yet some people wonder why this and that agent fails to sell. Remember we are on our job right along, that we sell, we do not advertise for fun.

Mr. Runk has had 33 years experience as a salesman. He is selling right along in Franklin and Cumberland counties. He will be in Adams County often from this on. He will bring outside customers to buy here and help increase our population. Mr. Peckman is in charge of our office in Gettysburg. If you want to sell or to buy you will be pleased with a call on him. He will take you to see what we have for sale. Do not delay if we advertise what suits you, for some other person will get it.

RUNK & PECKMAN,

REAL ESTATE

OFFICE IN MASONIC BUILDING, CENTRE SQUARE, GETTYSBURG

THE GHOST OF THE PAST.

It Rose Up to Taunt and Haunt the Poor Human Derelict.

The small crowd of grimy loafers lounged weakly in the little circle of light from the flickering lamp about the door. Two or three of them were leaning against a many colored poster, almost unreadable in the gloom. The door swung open—it was never shut—and a "upper figure in a red jersey and peaked cap of the Salvation Army appeared with a cheery greeting:

"Come in, men; come in. Fine treat tonight; splendid gramophone; and the latest from the music halls. Come on in."

One by one they went. Comic songs and Sousa marches rang nasally through the hall. Then the cheery voice was heard again:

"Now for some grand opera, gentlemen."

One living derelict who had subsided silently after his arrival from the public house roused himself at the words.

"Opera—grand opera," he muttered lazily.

The familiar whirr of the gramophone began again, and then a voice from the aluminium horn announced, "Song from 'I Pagliacci' by Pompey Carlyle, the famous tenor of grand opera."

As the name of the singer was announced the ragged waltz stiffened upright where he sat. Then as the first notes rang out his face held all the agony of a lost soul. Straight to his feet he bounded; then, with a cry, "Stop it, for heaven's sake stop it!" and with grimy hands pressed over his face he rushed from the hall, followed by a storm of abuse.

"What's the matter?" queried the commissioner.

"Queer bloke," answered another waltz, still gasping from an attack of coughing which had torn his frail body. "Sings outside pubs. Used to be in hopsa 'lself. Boozed done it."

"What do you call him?"

"Pompey Carlyle."

"Heavens, it was his own song he beard!"—London Tit-Bits.

SNOBBERY BELOW STAIRS.

The Way English Servants Ape Their Master's Aims and Graces.

Writing on snobs in the New York Tribune, Frederick Townsend Martin, the society millionaire, says:

We are all familiar with the ludicrous snobbery among English servants that existed in the time of Mr. Pickwick. Not so many of us, however, appreciate what snobbery exists today in the realm of the servants' hall. I was once visiting Baron Ferdinand Rothschild, when my valet came to me and asked if he could go to London by the morning train and get back in the afternoon.

I said to him, "Why do you want to go?"

He replied: "Oh, sir, as we are only stopping here a few days, I did not put in my evening suit, and last night, you being a foreigner, I found myself ranked above all the others and had to take precedence of those who were traveling with dukes, earls and viscounts. I outranked them all and took in the housekeeper to dinner. And my mortification was great when I noticed that every one of the men around the table was in evening clothes, and I alone was in my ordinary black suit. By the way, sir," he continued, "perhaps you, being an American, don't know that in the servants' hall the valets and maids are always called after their masters' and mistresses' names. They don't call them Lady So-and-so, but simply by the last name. Thus, Earl Cork's servant would be called 'Cork.' And in the servants' hall they are seated at the housekeeper's table in exactly the same grade and rank as that observed by their masters and mistresses upstairs."

France Takes to Tennis.

In France tennis is enjoying a big boom. The frog eaters will soon be contenders with the Americans, English and Australians for the world's racket honors. The Parisian youths are making a scientific study of strokes and strategy, and the game is having widespread popularity.

NEW STEEL PROCESS.

Quality Equal to Crucible Produced at One-tenth Cost.

The attention of the American industry is invited to a new process for making steel which is said to be equal in every point to crucible steel, although made without crucibles, and which is becoming a competitor of electro-steel because, while of equal standard in quality, its cost of production is supposed to be only one-tenth that of electro-steel, according to Consul Agent John B. Brewer, Wiesbaden, Germany.

The company that owns the patents of this new process has offices in Wiesbaden, Frankfurt-on-the-Main, and in London, and has established two plants in Sweden, one in Scotland and one in Germany for manufacturing this new steel.

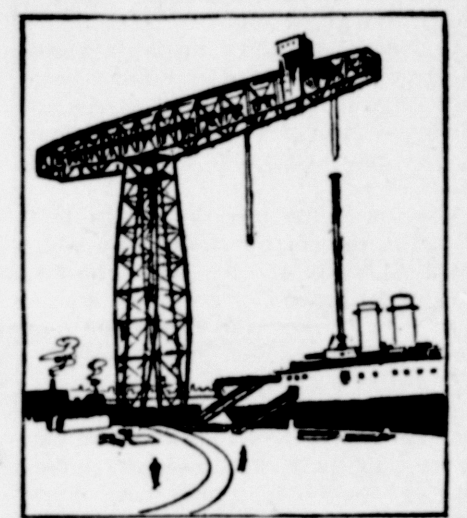

The principal advantages of the process are: (1) The construction and working of the furnace is simplified; (2) the heat of the furnace can be controlled more quickly and more exactly in the open hearth than with ordinary firing; (3) intermittent working is facilitated, the furnace being quickly brought to full heat after standing idle; (4) the charge can be melted and treated more quickly than by the ordinary method, hence the output of a furnace of a given size is increased and the cost of labor reduced; (5) the charge can be kept in a perfectly liquid state throughout, so that it is not necessary to use the last of the contents of the furnace for ingots, as is now usually the case.

One of the most remarkable qualities of this steel is that it shrinks only half as much as ordinary cast steel. Thus a product equalling crucible steel can be produced in the open hearth furnace. The plant that has been put up in Scotland at a cost of $150,000, with a capacity of 6,000 tons of steel per annum, is counted on to yield a net profit of 30 per cent, or about $15 per ton of steel, and the German plant is counted on for even better results.

HUGE ELECTRIC CRANE.

Giant Lifting Apparatus Used in a French Shipyard.

The giant 150 ton electric crane erected at the side of the fitting out basin of the Penhoet shipbuilding yard at St. Nazaire, France, is one of the largest in the world. It consists of a central latticed column 134½ feet high, provided at the top with a roller path, on which rests the crane proper. There are two tracks in the job, the lower one carrying a crab operated by two fifty horsepower motors. The upper track carries a fifteen ton traveler, which can run to the extreme end of the job. The lower track is 161 feet above the quay level and the highest one 172 feet. The crane can lift 150 tons at a sixty-five foot radius, 100 tons at ninety feet and 60 tons at 124 feet.

Sun as a Source of Heat.

Chemical experiments have been made using the sun as the source of heat. A plano-convex lens of forty centimeters diameter and five centimeters focal length is used to concentrate the sun's rays on the substances, which are placed in a magnesia crucible. Pieces of copper and cast iron were melted at once, and crystallized silicon, which has a melting point 1,450 degrees centigrade, was melted in a few seconds. The air was exhausted from the crucible. A thermo-junction in the center of the crucible showed 1,600 degrees centigrade in vacuo, but only 575 degrees centigrade when unexhausted. If the crucible is made of glass the heat can be focused directly on the substance itself, in which case the very refractory container (magnesia) is not necessary.

The Gibbon's Terrifying Song.

The London Zoological society possesses as a loan a nearly adult siamang gibbon, and R. L. Pocock has been studying the terrifying "song" of this ape. It usually begins, he says, with a low booming, punctuated by an occasional staccato bark. As the excitement rises the ape swings round the cage, barking vigorously, and now and then uttering a wailing shriek, while a loud booming goes on all the while like a resonant bass accompaniment. The noise is deafening, throwing the chimpanzees into consternation and producing a look of "mild surprise" on the usually expressionless faces of the orang outangs.

Hot Water Supplied by Nature.

People living in the western part of southwestern Dakota, states the American Machinist, are to be congratulated on having a never failing supply of hot water for heating their houses and for other purposes. By drilling artesian wells they get spouts varying in temperature from 100 degrees to 130 degrees and even higher. In Boise City, Ida., about half the houses are heated by natural hot water.

SIGNATURES OF EXAMPLES OF

LITERARY men are not the only persons who scorn penmanship. Carlyle and Dickens and Thackeray would never have taken down many business college prizes with their quills, but at that they got along with the chirography fully as well as the railroad presidents of today even if there has been a great improvement in writing facilities and in writing methods too. One has only to examine a collection of the signatures of the presidents of railways to prove this.

To illustrate, take the signature of A. A. Allen, president and general manager of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company. Mr. Allen could not have got very far at a district school with a signature like that.

THE ASTONISHING SIGNATURE OF A. A. ALLEN, PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER OF THE M. K. AND T. RAILWAY.

It looks more like a sketch of the lighting system of a severe thunder shower than anything else, but somehow the Standard Oil interests seemed to approve it. At least that mark to an order on its 3,300 mile railway system, the Katy, goes as law. Mr. Allen used to be a telegraph operator in the days when they copied messages by hand.

But there are other peculiar signatures besides that of Mr. Allen to back up the assertion that penmanship is not an essential of success in the railway business. In fact, most of the presidents of railroads add to the proof of that point every time they sign their names.

Take Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Chicago and Alton and the Clover Leaf roads, for example. His signature is sufficiently puzzling to affix to a cryptogram, but it is the same one he used when he ran the Panama canal for Theodore Roosevelt, and it is good on an Interborough railway pass in New York city, too, and Mr. Shonts is a college man despite that scrawl.

Another penman who used to take messages right off the wire is H. U.

H. U. MUDGE, PRESIDENT OF THE ROCK ISLAND, USED TO TAKE MESSAGES RIGHT OFF THE WIRE WHEN HE WAS A TELEGRAPH OPERATOR, BUT YOU WOULD NEVER GUESS IT.

Mudge of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, but you would never guess it was he from his signature. Mr. Mudge is now the head of 8,000 miles of railway.

Judge R. S. Lovett, who succeeded the late E. H. Harriman as chairman of the board of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, used to be a lawyer down in Texas, and he had time to learn to write his name with comparative legibility. And meantime he picked up knowledge that enables him to run a railway system comprising 18,000 miles of track and involving thirteen hundred and seventy million dollars capitalization.

Then there's B. L. Winchell, president of the 5,200 mile Frisco system. Mr. Winchell writes the first initial of his name very clearly, but from there on it would be a little difficult to make it out were it not printed on the letterhead.

well with his name until he reaches the last letter. That slips away from him much in his early games.

Base stealers like Cobb, Bescher, Collins and Magee are starting a big revival in a department of play in which the old timers excelled the moderns.

Cleveland critics charge that Larry Lajoie covers second base to perfection, but doesn't assist the shortstop in guaging the middle bag as he should. He allows the shortstop to shift for himself. As a result the left side of the infield is weak.

him and rolls down the paper rather aimlessly. But the task of keeping 10,000 miles of first class railway in good shape and especially of keeping it absolutely free from mergers in this era of combinations of big transportation systems makes a man busy, and Mr. Ripley feels justified in saving a fraction of a second on each "y."

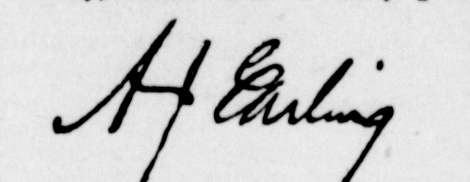

F. A. Delano, whom the Goulds put at the head of the Wabash, gets on better with his surname than with his initials, which is rather unusual. But Mr. Delano is a Harvard graduate and probably had to learn to write well enough to sign them there.

A. J. Earling, who as president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul company looks after 9,500 miles of railway, would make a fairly good grade on penmanship almost any time. He also used to be a telegrapher. About the only weak point in his signature is the first letter of his surname.

Darius Miller, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and DARIUS MILLER, PRESIDENT OF THE C. B. AND Q. RAILWAY, IS AN EXCEPTION AND WRITES WELL.

Samuel M. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western, are exceptions to the general rule that railway presidents cannot write their names legibly. Mr. Miller used to be a stenographer. Mr. Felton, who broke self consciousness, apparently as happy to step out shoulder to shoulder with her professional and industrial sisters.

While the secret, according to Miss Whitney's wish, has been carefully guarded, even those in the councils of the union being informed only that "a young society woman" had so generously swelled the treasury, there have been signs and tokens that the daughter of William C. Whitney had recently changed her attitude of passive conviction of the right of women to the franchise to an active desire to participate in its advent.
